

LAWRENCE CHILD EXILING STOPPED BY AUTHORITIES

LAWRENCE, Feb. 22.—Acting upon information furnished by Colonel Sweetser, the Lawrence police today stopped the deportation of children from the city and arrested the Armenian parents of a number of children who were about to be shipped to Bridgeport, Ct.

The arrests were made at the railroad station while the parents with the six children were awaiting the arrival of a train for Boston.

SHOTS MAN IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Feb. 22.—Giuseppe Serretore, No. 38 State street, was shot in the back in front of his home this noon. Giuseppe Trono, accused of the shooting, was pursued by police and mob of citizens. He fled along the highland side of the city. An alarm was telephoned to Lawrence.

The police of the latter city, accompanied by a detachment of militia on strike duty, started over the street to the scene. The fugitive was captured halfway between the two cities by the Lawrence police and soldiers. He was turned over to the Haverhill police.

Serretore, the man who was shot, was taken to the Hale Hospital.

Trono was taken to the same hospital where Serretore lodges. The cause of the trouble between the two men was not known.

The shooting threw the Italian colony into an uproar. The neighborhood was filled with a feeling of uneasiness. Shots were heard from the street, followed by a running fire. Two people in the crowd were from Serretore, who was in the crowd, and two others in the crowd were from Trono.

speech which may be used to patch up the hole in the dam.

It was a bitter blow to the strikers to have the House of Commons held without them by Judge Mahoney's Ruling.

Judge Mahoney's Ruling.

Before giving his decision, Judge J. Mahoney said that he was not the usual nature of the case, he had prepared a ruling which would be a precedent for all essential grounds for the Commonwealth's case.

The case on behalf of the Commonwealth was presented by the Attorney General, and the defendants in inflammatory speech and in the name of the Commonwealth, to the effect that the Commonwealth was not to be held responsible for the actions of the strikers, and that the Commonwealth was not to be held responsible for the actions of the strikers, and that the Commonwealth was not to be held responsible for the actions of the strikers.

The government does not claim that the defendants were present in the unlawful assembly, particularly in the presence and breath of the peace when the fatal shot was fired.

The government does not claim that the defendants were present in the unlawful violence and riot, they are responsible for the actions of the strikers.

The motive revealing the act being constructed there.

"It is to establish this theory it is to establish the Commonwealth to prove the alleged inflammatory words used by the defendants were actually calculated to incite to the act which the defendants were according to what the defendant might have foreseen would be the understanding."

"It is not sufficient that the defendant advised violence. There must be a direct connection established between the advice and the consummation of the crime; that is to say, before the defendant can be held liable, it is incumbent on the Commonwealth to show that the crime was committed by some person or persons acting under the advice and encouragement of the defendant and in pursuance of a common object and design."

"The motive must also be a natural and probable incident to the commission of the crime, which it is the duty of the jury to determine. The Commonwealth has the burden of proof in this respect, and it is incumbent on it to show that the crime was committed by some person or persons acting under the advice and encouragement of the defendant and in pursuance of a common object and design."

"I bought the goods sold for them in a small traveling case such as salesmen carry. Then I carried it to the house for some. I felt sorry and closed my eyes."

"When I opened them it was time for me to leave the train. I started to alight, then thought of the book. I hurried back, but they had disappeared. I became frantic and the crowd really calmed my mind."

"When I finally became conscious of myself, I was coming to California. Since then I have tried to recall why I did it. I feel that the book was the realization of my purpose. I am eager to go back to my home and make things look bad for me, but I am sure that I will be absolved when I get home."

$5,000 LOSS IN MILFORD BLAZE

MILFORD, Feb. 22.—Two houses were destroyed by smoke, and damage of $5,000 resulted from a fire early today, on the first floor of the Washington block, the center of the business section. The fire broke out at 10:30 a. m. and was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen of the building, which was owned by the Commonwealth. The fire spread rapidly, and the building was completely destroyed. The loss was estimated at $5,000. STIMSON GIVES UP RAY PAPERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Admitting the "raiding" papers in the new ransom Ray case, left by General Franklin Bell upon his retirement as chief of staff, were set about in the files as they should have been, Secretary of War Stimson, with an apology, has transmitted copies of those very remarkable documents to Congress.

On the highest authority, however, it is stated that the documents in the files of the House Committee on War contain all the records in the case. Indeed, two of the most vital links—cablegrams—showing the direct connection of the President through his faithful friend, General Clarence B. Edwards, with the return of Major Bowdler, R. H. to Chicago, where his services were required in the interest of Mr. Tift, are still suppressed.

This is done on the theory that they are personal and political and have nothing to do with the various branches of the War Department.

It is also the theory that they are personal and political and have nothing to do with the various branches of the War Department.

HENRY LEVINE, NEWSBOY SINGER, MAKING STAGE HIT

The end of a blizzard that struck Boston today brought up a boy in many ways. With twenty-four hours Boston had a taste of every kind of weather that could befall it.

While it blew and snowed and rained and thundered and lightened and it was a storm, Boston was better treated than any other place yet heard from. A snowstorm, however, was better treated than any other place yet heard from. A snowstorm, however, was better treated than any other place yet heard from.

The wind storm came so close to this city that Cambridge and the Newtons are stirred with doors ajar. At the City Hall in West Newton an electric light pole was blown down across the street, and a large jewelry sign at Newtonville was tipped from its fastenings and blown down across the street.

Branches of trees and signboards were strewn about the streets of Cambridge. A large glass skylight at the Harvard Asia Company's establishment was blown into the street. A fence in front of the subway entrance in Braintree square was picked up by the wind, carried some distance, and deposited in the street. The road was blown from the portable viewing booth in Quincy square.

Several persons had narrow escapes from harm. A fireman's cart was blown into the street. A car was blown into the street. A car was blown into the street. A car was blown into the street. A car was blown into the street.

Young Levine is appearing at the National this week in the "Streets of Boston" bill.

Henry Levine

James J. Storow, the newboy's friend, has been appearing in the "Streets of Boston" at the National Theatre. Young Levine is the mascot of the senior members of the Boston Newsboys' Club, and through his organization Mr. Storow has interested himself in him and will endeavor to have the boy better his vocal education.

Whether a city employs a boy to collect pay for serving with the mottoes at Lawrence is the question that is pending at the National Theatre. George Willard, clerk to the superintendent at the Harbor yard of the Public Works Department, at a salary of $800 a year, was ordered out for strike duty at Lawrence. He was gone for two weeks. Meanwhile his pay was withheld.

Commissioner Burke did his best to do his duty for him. It seemed only just that Willard should receive his pay since he was performing a duty to the country and the State. If he were denied it, it would be a disgrace to the city.

ALL HONOR TO THE FATHER OF COUNTRY

By Judge Frank Leveroni

Every race and every creed should unite in honoring the memory of George Washington because he was the father of our country. Every individual celebrates his birthday. Every nation celebrates its birthday. For the same reason the birth of the father of our country should be honored.

LATEST NEWS FROM MARS INHABITANTS

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The Paris Matin publishes a drawing of a curiously misshapen person, given as an approximate representation of the inhabitants of Mars. The drawing is given as a scientific observation by Edmond Perrier, of the Natural History Museum, and Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, who declared that the person depicted is not a caricature, but a being with a large head, bulky chest and spindly limbs.

Supersedes Massage as Wrinkle Remover

(The Woman World.)

Many women regularly visit the beauty specialist to have their wrinkles ironed out with the help of hot applications, cold creams and massage. Most of us realize that every effort we make to keep the marriage sweet, Solomon says, is a good thing. Every effort we make to keep the marriage sweet, Solomon says, is a good thing.

WOMEN GUARD LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The non-militarist suffragettes have arranged for a series of their "matinees" to act as stewards for the meeting tonight at Albert Hall, when Chamberlain Lloyd George will give an address.

These women, who are dressed in plain, simple, and unadorned dresses, will maintain order and assist in the distribution of the program. They will also be responsible for the safety of the speaker and the audience.

HOW BOSTON OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTH

Reception in Hall at the State House by Governor Foss.

with the youngsters. As the reception proceeded the band played patriotic airs. A great crowd attended the reception in spite of the storm.

Honor Mrs. Foss.

One of the children presented Mrs. Foss an American flag, which she held during the remainder of the reception. Mrs. Foss was very much pleased at the honor. Each child also presented Mrs. Foss with a valentine.

A delegation from the Highland House, wearing Highland costume and singing stirring airs on their bagpipes, marched past the Governor and Mrs. Foss. They were followed by Bishop Cheverie, Council, Knights of Columbus.

Then came a large number of Civil War veterans, many of whom were presented to the Governor. Two of the veterans were from the California Volunteers, William H. Fuller, First Sergeant, 11th Infantry, and William H. Fuller, 11th Infantry, a Private, and Henry G. Hirsch, 11th Infantry, a Private. They were all eighty years of age, were among the survivors of the battle of Gettysburg, and had served in the Civil War.

Consuls at Reception.

Foreign consuls located at Boston were present at the Governor.

Foreign Congressmen William H. McNary and Joseph A. Connors, E. J. O'Connell, Supervisor of Loans, and others were with the Governor.

by Lieutenant-Governor Robert S. Luce, and by the band which was the Governor's.

The British naval and military veterans were present.

The Scottish Christian Reformed, headed by the Rev. James H. Porter, and headed by the Rev. James H. Porter, and headed by the Rev. James H. Porter.

At 12:30 the Ninth Regiment Band, which had been playing in the hall, was then presented to the Governor.

Special American Atlas Offer

For a limited time only the American offers the "New Census Atlas of the World," new from cover to cover. This work was produced at great cost to mark the beginning of the new century period. It comes into the great family of Atlases along entirely new lines and clearly out of the rut. It contains everything worth while to be found in any other Atlas (in the way of maps and descriptive matter),

BRANDT SURE OF NEW TRIAL

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Justice Gerard has upheld the right of habeas corpus which brought Brandt, Jr., Brandt, former value of the United States, from Massachusetts to the United States. Brandt is now arrested on a new trial, at which both indictments against him are expected to be quashed.

A powerful plea to Governor Dix to pardon Brandt was made by Attorney General Cummings. The Governor has refused to grant the pardon, but has made public his refusal to grant the pardon.

An appeal in Justice Gerard's decision will be taken by Attorney-General Cummings and District Attorney Whitman. The case may be heard, however, in only a few days.

Application for bail, so that Brandt may be liberated from the Tombs, will be made tomorrow.

Misses J. T. Towns, Brandt's counsel, said Justice Gerard's decision affected not only Brandt, but the whole nation. It was a landmark, important, in that it established the right of habeas corpus, as well as the right of a fair trial and the government's obligation to provide a fair trial.

Justice Gerard's Ruling.

The demand of Mr. Sholl that Brandt be put on the stand was characterized as preposterous by Brandt's attorney. It is the usual practice, says Sholl, that the defendant is put on the stand and the government is put on the stand. It is not the usual practice, says Sholl, that the defendant is put on the stand and the government is put on the stand.

Justice Gerard's decision is a landmark in the history of habeas corpus. It is a landmark in the history of habeas corpus. It is a landmark in the history of habeas corpus.

HIGHER POSTAGE URGED BY TAFT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Recommendation for an increase in the rates on second-class mail, President Taft today sent to Congress a special message on the Post-office Department, transmitting the annual report of Postmaster-General Hitchcock and the report of the Commission on Second-Class Mail Matter, which was appointed by joint resolution of Congress on March 4, 1911.

The Commission was composed of Assistant Justice of the Supreme Court Charles E. Hughes, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard and Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Association of Commerce, Chicago.

The President included the recommendation of the Commission in his message, and urged an increase in the rates on second-class mail. The rate of one cent for the first four ounces of copies mailed by other than publishers and news agents, the President recommended be unchanged, in accordance with the committee's recommendation.

Service Great Burden.

The message declared that the investigation conducted by the Commission showed the cost for transporting second-class matter for news papers, magazines and other publications, to be a heavy burden on the government. The President recommended that the rate of one cent for the first four ounces of copies mailed by other than publishers and news agents, the President recommended be unchanged, in accordance with the committee's recommendation.

Big Deficit Wiped Out.

The revenue for the fiscal year amounted to $227,798,323.00, including about a surplus over expenditures of $10,112. This, in two years, reports the President, has wiped out a deficit of $17,000,000. The President recommended that the rate of one cent for the first four ounces of copies mailed by other than publishers and news agents, the President recommended be unchanged, in accordance with the committee's recommendation.

YALE TO PLAY HARVARD HERE

William Garcelon, graduate manager of Harvard athletics, today denied the report that the third game of the series between Harvard and Yale would be played at the St. Nicholas rink, New York, on the next Saturday night. Garcelon said that the game would be played at the Arena.

The defeat of Harvard at New Haven last night by a 3 to 2 score was a big surprise to the Harvard fans. The Crimson seven. It was expected that Harvard would be able to defeat Old Eli may face him. Yule, however, evidently has no intention of losing his job as the opening game of the series. "I'm going to pitch a third game, no matter what," he says. "I'll pitch again. Even though Harvard is having the best team, Yule is sure to pitch. He's got to pitch. He's got to always play best when there is a crowd watching him. Yule is a fighting spirit, which has always characterized Yule. He usually predominates in the mind of each player."

Yule and Harcard play at the Arena. "I don't know if the Arena will make an effort to induce the Shorbrookes to stay over until Monday night," says Yule. "If they do, I will stay over until Monday night and be scheduled to give battle with the Shorbrookes on Tuesday night. The Shorbrookes cannot stay over until Monday, there is a possibility that the team from the California state will play after midnight."

HEAVY SELLING DROPS READING

By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.

Stocks were weak during most of session yesterday. Reading was poor or sale with such vigor that it closed at loss of nearly three points and at lowest price. Trading in that one furnished nearly half of the business of the day. Union Pacific and Steel, in which there was also activity, closed materially lower. Most stocks were neglected, being only enough transactions to get them quoted. Little spurts of activity were seen here and there, and nearly always with a receding release.

[illegible]

Lain's Faith in Steel Trust.

It is pointed to as evidence of weakness, and bankers who have persisted in stating the trust had done nothing wrong knowingly are now beginning to believe that the trust has been cut off entirely, even in intention.

Roosevelt's speech, in which he proposed that the government should take over the principles of initiative and referendum and the right of recall, has been widely discussed, and the speech, as accepted by Wall Street and the public, is thoroughly established that there is no possibility of its being withdrawn. Therefore, contained nothing to explain the weakness of the market.

The steel stocks recently have been idle speculation. The oil industry is in splendid condition and being absorbed in the department is in position to go rapidly.

Oil-Burning Ships Coming.
Completion of the Panama Canal will permit all coal-burning ships now afraid of the way to the junk heap inside of 10 years, and the oil companies will be calling for the new ships. The new ships will be built for the world and for all classes of merchandise.

At the moment many a mail liner is being built by companies in California are coming from too much output and too low a price. The market, but that will all be corrected in a few years. The oil situation is not so good. The Pacific coast. The public should remember that it will be impossible for but a few months on the Pacific coast. The oil companies are now in the Southern States on the top of the advancing wave. They control the railroad situation from town to town. Vancouver.

George Washington's Birthday

Talk to the Little Boys and Girls About It. And Think About It YOURSELF. Let the Day Be a Thinking Day as Well as a Holiday

Tell the little boys that Washington, born on this day 160 years ago, was a very big man, bigger than Jeffries, as strong as two ordinary men—and very kind and gentle.

Tell the little girls that he was a very fine man to look at, and very good and very brave—just about the kind of man that every good little girl ought to marry when she grows up.

And remind YOURSELF of the fact that Washington was first of all A MAN THAT COULD NOT BE DISCOURAGED.

He possessed many kinds of greatness. But his greatest GREATNESS was his ability to keep on fighting in the face of defeat.

Of all the world's great men, nine-tenths, probably, would have given up, discouraged, if they had met the troubles that Washington met.

Defeat, desertion by friends, false accusations by enemies, hope deferred—the forces that discouraged men that are NOT like George Washington had no effect upon him.

He was there to work and hang on. He was there to fight and fight on. He despised the cowards, shirkers and the easily discouraged.

But he worked WITH them, and he WON with them. And today, as we celebrate his birthday, we know that there were thousands greater than he, intellectually, and thousands greater as mere fighters, and many thousands greater in many thousands of ways. But there was not and THERE IS NOT GREATER AS A MAN.

His work and duty were clear. He undertook a certain task, he accomplished it.

He accepted the people's homage and gratitude. He was entitled to both.

He knew when he had enough. He could not be flattered by friends into making himself a king, or driven by vanity into taking three terms as President.

He did good work, gave good advice, fought his battles, paid his bills, lived and died an honest man, took Republican government seriously, knew that keeping one President in office beyond two terms would be the same as having a king—and he settled one important question for all time when he limited the President of the United States to TWO TERMS IN OFFICE.

Here's to George Washington, father of his country, example to his countrymen and endorser of the political idea "enough is enough." Heaven forbid that we should likely introduce the personality of a woodchuck into an editorial about a whale—but we do hope that some one has told Theodore Roosevelt that this is Washington's Birthday, that Washington believed in two terms only, SAID that he believed in two terms only, and kept his WORD after he said it.

Congress should give the right of way to some adequate measure for the restoration of the American merchant marine. There is no time to lose—lest the day of the Panama Canal opening shall come upon us and find us without ships to make use of our great new waterway.

When in the history of the world did a nation plan and execute so gigantic an undertaking with so little forethought for the good to be got out of it?

Herr Ballin, the chief man of the German shipping combination, has started for the Isthmus to make arrangements for the expanding of German trade from the moment of the Canal opening. British shipping interests also are being aroused by the British press to seize every possible advantage of the new passage to Western America and to India and the Orient.

It is only in the United States—the land of the mighty labor and sacrifice—that the approaching hour of high commercial opportunity stirs no commensurate response.

Nothing can be more important to the general welfare of this country, nothing can be more worthy of the attention of Congress than the devising of ways and means whereby the nation may reap the due commercial fruits of the stupendous effort that has been made to cut the Continent in two.

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

THE Restless Woman may be found here and there, in every part of the world. But only in America is she developed to a distinct and dreadful type.

Look about you, and you will find her.

Fortunate are you if you do not find her in your own domicile, and still more fortunate if, being a woman, you do not recognize her as yourself.

And, again, fortunate are you if, having recognized yourself, you not about the first work of changing your type. The first step is to get up in the morning, usually after a poor night of broken slumber, to plan enough work and pleasure, duty and chastity to keep you busy all day.

There is no method in her planning; and before high noon she is all unorganized. She has no plan for any of the nine plans must be abandoned in order that she can carry out one thing. She has no plan for anything, so she is sure to regret it later on and wonder because the fact that she nothing not to give to her great power.

She is a most unsatisfactory friend for her restless spirit; causes her to be restless in her friends, and is inconsistent with any focused attention while others are talking. Her mind is too busy to listen to what anyone says, so she never that she wants to get away.

The Restless Woman is always day-dreamed with her life and always has a plan for something better than that she does not reach any goal.

The habit of Restlessness is did not select one of the other plans to occupy her time.

Never Amounts to Anything

All day long the Restless Woman

IN fussing about his house, or going in and out, remembering things she has forgotten, or forgetting things she has tried to remember. She takes ten steps where she need only take one; and the sound of opening and shutting doors and hurried footsteps, and coming and going of people, and

When she tries to settle down to read a book she invariably remembers some unfilled duty which calls her away; and she rarely completes a letter without interrupting herself three times to go and do something else.

Attracted by her physical charms, a young man asked the privilege of calling. It was a Summer day and a Summer home, and no sooner was the young man seated the Restless Girl than she suggested a stroll in the open air; she thought the house seemed close. Forth they strolled; but six squares had not been traversed when the Restless Girl suggested an Ice Cream Parlor; and ere the cream was consumed she suggested the Butler was consumed she proposed the Holler skating rink; and after that the Moving Picture Show.

"Never before or since in my life," the mother afterward said, "did I suffer such another young man speaking as he spoke the afternoon I met my future son-in-law."

For the first time during that call it would rather spend my life in solitary confinement than in the society of my countrymen.
